Enclosure 5. Militant-initiated Attacks in Indian Kashmir (U)

(b)(3):50 USC
403-1(i)

1. (TS) [redacted] Open-press reporting in the past week indicates that militant-initiated activity in Kashmir has increased (Figure 1 and Figure 2). This increase can possibly be attributed to the easy targeting of Hindu pilgrims on their annual pilgrimage and increased efforts by "recalcitrant" militants to initiate and spread communal violence against Kashmir's Hindu minority. 3. (C)

[redacted] Besides the militant-initiated attacks on "soft-targets" there were other key events including an unsuccessful militant attack in Srinagar on the Jammu and Kashmir Chief Minister, Dr. Farooq Abdullah. He survived a similar attack in Srinagar last year. The attack was later claimed by a previously unknown militant group, Al Madina.

4. (S)

[redacted] Between now and October, when elections for the Jammu and Kashmir Assembly are to be held, militant activity in Kashmir may be expected to increase and may include a catastrophic militant attack. Open-press [redacted] allude to threats of "sensational" militant attacks that could reverse the de-escalatory process. "Sensational" events are undertaken to increase publicity and international visibility of the Kashmir problem, as well as disrupt the Kashmir electoral process.
