b)(3):10 USC -24	Open Press Reporting on Militant-Initiated Attacks
21	• The number of attacks has increased, almost doubling, in the last two weeks.
	 The majority of attacks have been carried out against security forces, which is in keeping with militant intentions to increase the number of attacks in security personnel, including those involved in possible election-related security duties. There were three incidents of grenade explosions injuring large numbers of civilians, a decrease from six in the preceding 3-week period. The second most common target remains National Conference activists and members (who are the political party of the ruling government in Kashmir), with the continuing aim to disrupt upcoming Kashmir election process.
