Enclosure 4. Militant-initiated Attacks in Indian Kashmir (U)

1. (S//) Open-press reporting in the past week indicates that militant-initiated activity in Kashmir has begun to level off.

2. (S//) Analysis of open source reporting indicates an overall decrease in events since the beginning of June. The majority of incidents reported for the last few weeks tend to be militant-initiated attacks upon security forces; whereas this week, aside from one incident, attacks were upon individual civilians possibly pro-Indian.

3. (S//) The onset of the monsoon in Kashmir at the end of June is expected to bring an increase in militant infiltration due to the less favorable conditions for an Indian military response.

4. (S//) Local security forces are bracing for increased militant activities, generally targeting the political process in the Kashmir Valley, after June 26th.
