

COVID-19 Integration and Coordination Group

06 April 2020/1500 EDT

(U) Executive Summary:

(U) The CICG has now transitioned to Blue/Gold alternating teams, enhancing operational capacity while reducing personnel footprint in the building. A Silver team will soon be operational, allowing for a standing reserve force. For the first time, the number of individuals awaiting clearance from the Office of the Surgeon General surpassed the number of individuals in isolation. This pattern will likely continue as the OSG continues to increase its capacity to clear personnel. The CICG team has simplified the Workforce Update format to be more user-friendly, with the placement of key information up front, and recurring content available through links.

[Redacted]

(U) NCMI: On 6 April 2020, a [redacted] officer returned to work before getting clearance from the Surgeon General. His badge had been turned off, but the contract security guard issued him a temporary badge to enter the [redacted] facility. When it was discovered he had not gone through proper clearing procedures, he was removed from the building, and his work area was sanitized before any employees were allowed into that area (none had been in the area between the time the officer arrived and when the area was sanitized). He reported to the clinic on base for a COVID-19 test and is at home awaiting results. All personnel were reminded about self-isolation procedures and clearance by the OSG before returning to work.
